

This ISN'T Santa Claus...

Before you buy that Christmas puppy from a pet store, a classified ad, or over the internet, stop and think about where he could be coming from -- and where his parents will probably live out their entire lives.

The "breeder" wears heavy coat and gloves against the WI chill, while the pups huddle together on a wire mesh floor in a wire mesh cage. Yes, that is snow you see on the corrugated metal roof and on the ground.

BUT THAT'S OK, the breeder tells us; "They were outside for a million years. It's only the last 200 that people have been putting 'em in the house."
